2012 ODESSA CONFERENCE AND OUR SEMINARS WILL HELP TO ANSWER A NUMBER OF TOPICAL ISSUES INCLUDING:

- ★ How will the postponed introduction of the new technical motor fuels regulations effect Russia's refining;
- ★ What is the outcome of the 2011 and the 2012-2014 outlooks for Russia's refining;
- ★ Belarus' refining and petrochemical industry: the 2011 results and the key trends in 2012;
- ★ Ukraine's oil products market and refining development in 2012-2014;
- ★ Russia's new export regulations impact on oil refining development in Russia, Belarus, Ukraine and Kazakhstan;
- ★ Choosing among priorities: quality or efficiency. What shape will the modernization of Ukraine's refining take;
- ★ What is the actual scope of Kazakhstan's refining modernization at the current stage;
- ★ What companies stand a fair chance to achieve additional opportunities to participate in Kazakhstan – 163,000b/d Pavlodar refinery modernization;
- ★ Advanced energy saving solutions: enhancing refinery's heat-exchanging facilities' performance under relatively low investments incurred;
- ★ Water treatment: how to lay grounds for establishing reliable water treatment system?
- ★ Mini-scale refining at the current stage: what are the outcomes of the recently introduced "60-66" taxation scheme for mini-refineries in Russia?
